Just the other day a rider left a briefcase in his taxi and when Porcaro opened it he found it contained thirty-five thousand dollars. He quickly sought the owner and returned the money. Strike-Idle Increasing As New Disputes Arise

Meandering Along the Main Stem

By WASH FAYETTE

I notice that the white and yellow highway stripes are beginning to appear once more after an absence of nearly a year, due to a shortage of paint for these purposes.

In this immediate community (except at isolated points) no white lines have been painted, but hope is expressed that the much wanted white paint will be available soon, and the white lines be applied before winter sets in.

Yellow paint now seems to be abundant, and is being used to renew the yellow lines on many of the main highways.

I am informed authoritatively that motorists should be careful in passing through Mt. Sterling, where a new motor cop seems to be on duty and is picking up quite a number of drivers, according to reports.

I have not been told that a "speed trap" exists in the town, because that report has not been given out, but I am passing word along to you drivers who pass through the town to obey the speed and other traffic regulations for the streets are patrolled by the traffic cop.

Mrs. Leora Graham, of 441 East Street, is relieved to hear from her son, Pfc. William M. Graham, who was stationed on Okinawa during the typhoon which caused so much damage there.

Part of his letter to her describing the typhoon follows: "We had quite a storm here on the island. It was a typhoon. It blew down about all the tents and several airplanes were destroyed. I don't know the extent of the damage."

"It lasted six hours. Some of the boys went to the caves but we stayed in our tent wondering if it would blow down. It stayed up but it leaked so it was about as damp inside as outside. All my clothes got wet. Water was knee deep. I hope I never see another typhoon."

EQUAL PAY FAVORED BY SCHWELLENBACH

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—(P)—Secretary of Labor Schwellessbach said today women who turn out the same quantity and quality of work as men should receive the same pay.

He told the Senate Labor Subcommittee he favors the so-called equal pay bill.

This measure, introduced by Senators Pepper (D-Fla.) and Morse (R-Ore.) would make it unlawful for an employer to pay a woman at a lower rate than he pays a man for comparable work.

It also would make it unlawful to discharge a woman and replace her with a man—except to protect employment rights of returned veterans.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 29.—(P)—Money appropriated by the legislature for state university dormitories may not be used to build two and three-room apartments for ex-service men students and their families, Atty. Gen. Hugh S. Jenkins held today.

Battleground for Work Week and Basic Wage Issues Shift to Capital as President Calls in Both Sides of General Motors Controversy

(By the Associated Press)

Total idle in labor disputes jumps from 235,000 to 260,000 with these developments:

ELECTRICAL—CIO United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers plan strike vote affecting 200,000 in 54 General Electric Co. plants and in electrical manufacturing plants of General Motors Corp.

STEEL—CIO United Steel Workers to petition for strike vote among 600,000 employees of 766 steel, aluminum, and iron ore companies; $2 increase in daily pay at issue.

TRANSPORTATION—94 per cent of Missouri Pacific Railroad Dispatchers vote strike; bus strike at Joliet, Ill., leaves 42,000 inhabitants with 22 taxicabs only means of public transportation.

MOTION PICTURES—Eight-month long jurisdictional strike appears ending with 5,000-7,000 workers slated to resume work Wednesday.

RUBBER—Unauthorized strike of 400 maintenance and power employees throws 15,000 persons at Akron, Ohio, Firestone Tire and Rubber into idleness.

MACHINISTS—13,000 CIO and AFL Machinists in San Francisco go out in 30 per cent wage increase demand.

Work-week issue—President R. J. Thomas of the CIO United Auto Workers, which today emphatically rejected a General Motors Corporation proposal for a 45-hour week, announced he had been called by President Truman to a conference at the White House at 11 A. M. Friday.

Thomas said he did not know why the president had summoned him. Although the labor-management conference was not scheduled to begin until the following Monday, he said he assumed his summons was related to that meeting.

Shortly before General Motors offered its 45-hour work week proposal, C. E. Wilson, General Motors president, had conferred with Truman.

"I don't see how the 45-hour week could do either General Motors or the workers any good," Thomas said.

FIGHTING FLARES UP IN JAVA BUT CAUSE NOT YET CLEAR

By RALPH MORTON

BATAVIA, Java, Oct. 29.—(P)—Indonesian Nationalists using armored cars and light tanks killed an estimated 25 members of the British Indian force at Soerabaja before President Soekarno of the "Indonesian Republic" reportedly arranged a truce today at the big naval base.

A British officer made the casualty estimate but did not include pockets surrounded by the natives. The officer said many women and children in internment camps had been killed by the natives.

The fighting at Soerabaja was the bloodiest of the Allied occupation of the island of Java. Military equipment which the natives had taken from the Japanese included at least 20 armored vehicles, and machineguns and mortars, the officer said.

Before the truce a couple of companies of Rajputana riflemen fought desperately from the Darno Hospital and the British consulate. A company of British engineers at the Darno barracks and Darno station, where the bitterest fighting took place, radioed: "Running out of ammunition. Unless you send help we'll be overrun."

One British company detailed eight men to protect a jail where there were 35 Dutch women and children. The company commander reported he heard shots at the (Please Turn to Page Six)

Bullet Headed 'Tiger of Malaya Faces Punishment as War Criminal While in Japan Hopes for Future Are Raised by President Truman's Foreign Policy Enunciation — Officialdom Silent But Newspaper Goes Into Fabulous Expenses and Holdings of Emperor

By JOHN GROVER

MANILA, Oct. 29.—(P)—Four Japanese sailors in Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita's Philippines command killed or wounded 100 women and children in a bloody orgy in a Red Cross aid station, a pretty survivor testified today as the general's trial on war criminal charges opened.

The heavily medaled, bullet-headed Yamashita, defeated at every opening of the hearing, followed legal turn in legal skirmishing which arguments with the assistance of a personal interpreter, but he appeared to understand considerable English.

Patricina Abad, 26, testified four Japanese sailors bayoneted and shot the 100 women and children here last February. The orgy continued more than an hour although there was no resistance.

Her arm in a sling, Mrs. Abad testified that she covered behind a cabinet with her 10-months old daughter in her arms. She was shot through the elbow and bayoneted nine times. Three thrusts went through her body and killed her baby.

The four Japanese slaughtered more than 50 of the women and children, Mrs. Abad told the Military Commission of five U. S. generals trying Yamashita for his life on a charge he was responsible for crimes committed by his command.

Capt. Norman J. Spurnon, Melbourne, Australia, identified captured Japanese documents which showed Yamashita commanded the 14th Imperial Army Group at the time of the atrocities.

In the heavily guarded high commissioner's residence, officers, troops and Filipinos vied for the few seats available to the public at the trial.

The defense objected to admission of 59 new points in the prosecution's bill of particulars on the ground it opened an entirely new theory of law. The bill charged Yamashita "permitted" his troops to commit atrocities. The objection was overruled.

The defense sought a two weeks' postponement to counter adequately the prosecution's new charges. That was denied, but the court stipulated the defense might refer its request for postponement after the prosecution rests.

Defense Appeal Planned—It was clear the defense carefully was laying the groundwork for an appeal either to President Truman or to the United States Supreme court if Yamashita is convicted. It asked dismissal of all charges against Yamashita, on the contention the commission is without jurisdiction.

Col. Harry E. Clark, Altoona, Pa., commission-appointed chief defense counsel, argued the prosecution had failed to show that any proper authority had delegated power to General MacArthur to order the commission convened.

The chief prosecution, Maj. Robert M. Kerr, Portland, Ore., said the prosecution will attempt to prove violations of the laws of war were so widespread and common (Please Turn to Page Six)

IDENTIFYING BODY OF WOMAN IS PUZZLE—NAPOLÉON, Oct. 29.—(P)—Sheriff Fred Bartels said today he was attempting to establish identification of the body of a nude woman found by two fishermen last night in the Maumee River eight miles northeast of here.

The woman, approximately 20 years old, was severely beaten on the head, Coroner Thomas Quinn reported. The body had been in the water less than a week, he added.

JEALOUS SOLDIER HELD FOR KILLING—LYNN, Mass., Oct. 29.—(P)—Pfc. Clarence Carr, 33, described by police as being of a "jealous nature," was held without bail on a murder charge today in the army rifle slaying of his wife, Rebecca, 33.

The soldier, who formerly lived in Prospect, Tenn., attempted to plead guilty but Judge Ralph W. Reeve entered a plea of innocent in his behalf and continued the case until Friday.

Police Inspector Charles T. Duggan said the shooting occurred in a rooming house.

Duggan said Carr had been drinking prior to the shooting and that he had argued with his wife Friday night, expressing doubt when she told him she had been to the movies with three women friends.

He succeeds Ralph S. Locher, who became secretary to Gov. Frank J. Lausche.

Eichelberger Least Bored General—Welfare of Men Comes First and He Visits and Talks With Them Frequently

By HAL BOYLE

YOKOHAMA, Oct. 29.—(P)—The man with the greatest sense of adventure in the American Eighth Army is the boss. Tall, grayhaired Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger at 59 still has a small boy's absorbing interest in the world around him. Despite service in two wars and much closehand observation of mankind's chicanery, selfishness and bloodlust, he remains unsoured.

And he has avoided those twin blights that afflict most high-ranking officers—boredom and introspection.

Ex-Convict Confesses Killing Sailor's Wife

LORAIN, Oct. 29.—(P)—Gordon E. Wellman, an ex-convict who confessed slaying the 24-year-old wife of a Navy veteran in an attempt to steal her automobile, faced preliminary arraignment on a first degree murder charge today.

The 23-year-old steelworker, arrested in Columbus Saturday night, told detectives he shot and killed Mrs. Helen Duffield Wednesday night but maintained the first two bullets were fired "accidentally."

However, Detective Vernon Smith reported Wellman confessed firing two more bullets into her body when he found she was not dead.

Smith said Wellman confessed he had intended to steal "any car available" to take another Lorain woman to Georgia and force her to marry him.

The detective reported the husky steelworker gave this version of the shooting: Wellman was waiting outside a delicatessen-restaurant in Lorain when Mrs. Duffield, whom he had seen previously but never met, walked out to her automobile.

As the woman entered the car, he told her to "move over" and (Please Turn to Page Three)

Fierce Fighting Between Communists and Central Government Forces Reported in North—Rumors Say Russians Supplying Arms to Red Insurrectionists

By SPENCER MOOSA

CHUNGKING, Oct. 29.—(P)—Reports of heavy fighting between Chinese Communist and central government troops in North China pictured today a nation locked in civil war, through not officially declared.

Warfare is growing in intensity in Shantung, Shansi and Suiyuan provinces, said dispatches received here.

The Chinese Press attributed to Gen. Yen Hsi-Shan, governor of Shansi, visiting Chungking, a statement that government forces suffered 15,000 casualties and Communist losses "also were heavy" in fighting centering around Chang-chih, strategic town in southern Shansi which Yen conceded the Reds captured.

Independent reports said retreating Communists were de- (Please Turn to Page Two)

WAITRESS SLAYER SOUGHT IN 4 STATES

Woman's Body Found in Parked Car

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Oct. 29.—(P)—A police search in four states failed today to produce clues to the death of Mrs. Hazel Warner Kuell, a red-haired waitress whose body was found in a parked automobile here. The skull was fractured.

Mrs. Kuell had planned to marry soon, but her mother, Mrs. Mae Warner of New Market, N. J., did not remember the name of the prospective bridegroom. The mother claimed her daughter's body yesterday.

Mrs. Kuell's body was found Friday in an automobile by the owner who had left the car in a parking lot five days earlier while he went to Florida.

A scar-faced soldier reported seen near the parking lot was eliminated as a suspect, Police Detective Howard T. Newman reported.

MILITARY TRAINING—A Republican senator, Chan Gurney of South Dakota, told a reporter he would ask the Senate military committee, narrowly divided like the Senate, to start hearings on the controversial universal military training plan.

Gurney has a bill before the committee much like the proposals President Truman has thumped for—a year's war training for every young man.

But an Associated Press poll showed a majority of Senate members haven't made up their minds yet on the compulsory plan. Some (Please Turn to Page Two)

TAX CUT BILL ABOUT SET FOR FINAL APPROVAL

Full Employment Program And Food for Europe Add To Lawmakers Worries

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—(P)—Congress worked today to whittle the Navy and the nation's airplane production facilities down to peacetime size.

The House called up for debate a bill to settle on a two-ocean navy of 1,082 fighting ships. This would be smaller than the pre-war fleet but far more potent in speed and fire power.

Hearings opened before a Senate military subcommittee to find out how many aircraft plants should be retained to keep the nation's protective air fleet supplied with replacements.

The subcommittee wants to know, too, said Chairman Joseph C. O'Mahoney of Wyoming, what's to be done with all the surplus plants. On the wisdom of their disposal, he said, the prosperity of the country depends a good deal.

Plane Recommendation—Peacetime production of 3,000 military airplanes yearly was recommended today to a Senate military affairs subcommittee by Dr. George P. Baker, special War Department consultant. He also proposed thorough testing of the developing weapons of airpower so they will be ready for large scale production if needed. Highlights of the plan are:

Production of 3,000 military planes, with airframe weight of 30,000,000 pounds, yearly, to maintain a reservoir of engineering, tooling and production skills; Making surplus government aircraft plants available to private industry on "favorable terms."

Dispersion of the aircraft industry, at a cost of from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000;

Expenditure of $5,000,000 yearly by the Army and Navy to plan and organize an expansion program for use in case of war, and

Surviving are his widow, and four sons: Loren, at home; Marion, Greencastle, Ind.; Donald, of Auburn, Indiana; and Max, of Chicago, who appears on the Carnation Hour radio program Monday night, and then leaves immediately for this city.

Funeral plans, under direction of the Hook Funeral Home, will not be made until the sons arrive.

FIRE IN BUSINESS BLOCK HERE SUNDAY

Timely Discovery Prevents Spread of Blaze

Timely discovery of a fire that had gained considerable foothold in a storage room on the third floor in the block occupied by the State Theater in East Court Street, prevented serious damage in the building Sunday evening.

The fire, apparently started from a cigarette stub, had burned a large place in the floor and when it was discovered about 7:45 P. M. extinguishers were immediately used.

City firemen when called used additional hand extinguishers in putting out the flames. Patrons of the theater underneath the fire were not disturbed, and few were aware that there was a fire in the building.

SERVICES ARE HELD FOR ACCIDENT VICTIM

Funeral rites for Clifford Groves, Jefferson Township farmer, who was fatally injured in a corn picker, were held Sunday at 2 P. M. at the Christian Union Church, in Jeffersonville, and were conducted by Rev. Frank Sollars, of Mechanicsburg, assisted by Rev. Berlyn Knisley.

The Stookey Sisters of Washington C. H. sang the hymns "Face To Face," "It Is Well With My Soul" and "In The Garden." There were many lovely floral gifts, and these were cared for by Orville, Everett and Max Groves, Earl and Ernest Huff, Ray Steagall, Leo Hines, Kerns Stookey and Junior Tschakert.

ONLY CLERK OF DRAFT BOARD IS ON DUTY HERE

Recommending Committee Will Act After Notified of Vacancies

As result of the resignation of the five members of the Fayette County Selective Service Board, announced Saturday, and also the resignation of Chief Clerk Miss Lorie Robison, the only person on duty Monday at draft board headquarters here was Mrs. Pauline Scott, who has been assistant clerk of the board for several years.

No announcement regarding action of the State Selective Service Board has been forthcoming, but early acceptance of the resignation of the board here, which resigned in protest to failure of the government to take steps to stop widespread strikes in the nation, is expected soon.

In the meantime, the Fayette County Recommending Committee, which consists of Judge H. M. Rankin, chairman; Judge Rell G. Allen, and Thomas H. Craig, Sr., is taking no steps to fill the vacancies here until they receive formal notice that the resignations have been accepted, and that officially the draft board here has ceased to exist.

The Recommending Committee, at the proper time, will forward a list of those deemed eligible, to the Adjutant General, who in turn will make recommendations to Governor Lausche and the list passes through to National Selective Headquarters in Washington, D. C., for presidential appointment, it was stated Monday.

At Columbus the State Selective Service Board has declined to comment upon resignation of the board, but indicated that some action would be taken soon toward establishing a new board here, which, according to indications, may be a difficult task.

Chairman of the board which resigned, in connection with the affair, said: "It's a closed chapter insofar as we are concerned."

STRIPING OF STREETS IS CONTINUED SUNDAY

Work of striping the streets was continued over Sunday, with the result that most of the work has been finished in the up-town district, and another day or two will be sufficient to complete the job. Part of the streets were striped last Sunday while few cars were parked.

White paint is being used and has been found much better as a guide to traffic than the yellow paint.

The stripes are applied with a spraying machine owned by the city.

stroying railroad tracks and blowing up bridges.

This explained the slow movement of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's troops proceeding along the Peiping-Hankow and Tientsin-Pukow railroads to replace United States Marines in the Peiping-Tientsin area.

Insistent reports that the Russians were supplying the Communists with captured Japanese war material continued to circulate in Chungking, but no one in authority would allow himself to be quoted.

Other reports told of bitter fighting in 11 provinces, mostly in North China, but including central parts of the nation and Kwangtung province, on the south-east coast.

The new China Daily News, Communist publication, estimated 800,000 Central Government troops were battling the Reds. Neutral observers said they believed this figure was exaggerated, but all quarters conceded the fighting was serious.

Sources favoring Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's government said they believed the only way to unify the nation was to eliminate the Communists, which they thought Chiang could do with an all-out, well executed campaign in from three to six months.

These sources said they believed Chiang would start a smashing campaign against the Communists were he not apprehensive over the reaction from other nations, and the possibility that Russia might support the Reds.

FLOCKS OF GEESE HEAD SOUTHWARD

One Flock Containing Many Hundreds Is Seen

A number of persons have reported seeing a huge flock of wild geese, containing hundreds of the big birds, flying southward over Fayette County about dusk Sunday evening.

In the Rock Mills community the birds circled for a short time and attracted much attention by their great numbers, as usually a flock of 50 is considered a large one.

Apparently the geese are now migrating in large numbers, for the first time this fall.

Their southward flight invariably presages some severe weather within a short time.

discourages employers and business generally from planning such extra hours of production, thereby tending to reduce the country to a 40-hour work week when the country and the world are demanding more production at lower prices."

Wilson further argued the change would "stimulate business activity and create more jobs."

"The basic fallacy of Wilson's proposal," declared Reuther, "is his assumption that America is facing a manpower shortage, as we were during the war." Reuther added the proposal would boost unemployment.

Another union leader termed General Motors' suggestion for joint action in petitioning Congress for an extension of the 40-hour work week to 45 as a "conspiracy against millions of returning veterans and laid-off war workers."

General Motors, declared Walter P. Reuther, UAW-CIO vice president, "is insuring economic suicide for itself and our whole peacetime economy."

The corporation and union were stalemated over the workers' demand for a 30 percent wage increase when negotiations were postponed indefinitely last week.

Strike-Idle Increase
The graph of the nation's strike idle curved sharply upward today, touching approximately 345,000 with the addition of some 110,000 persons to those away from their jobs.

The additions came in new strikes in Akron, where an unauthorized walkout of 400 maintenance and power employees of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. paralyzed production and sent a collateral 15,000 employees into idleness; and in the San Francisco area, where 13,000 AFL and CIO machinists joined in a strike.

Strike vote petitions to the National Labor Relations Board were being prepared by representatives of more than 800,000 workers in the steel and electrical industries. And the AFL Commercial Telegraphers Union planned a five hour work stoppage in the Western Union Co. Friday. Union spokesmen said 52,000 of Western Union's 60,000 operators would join the demonstration.

Issues, as in the principal other strikes, revolved about wage increase demands.

Strike votes and continued jockeying for position threatened further disturbances. The CIO United Electrical Radio and Ma-think Congress ought to wait until fast-moving science can show what kind of business a future war may be.

Word came to Capitol Hill, via Reconversion Director John W. Snyder, that President Truman wants any scientific discoveries developed in federally-financed research clearly the property of the whole country.

Snyder gave the president's view in a letter to Senators Harley Kilgore of West Virginia and Warrign Magnuson of Washington. The two Democratic senators have been studying proposals to create a national research foundation.

The White House, Snyder said also, will want to name the guiding officials of any such agency. Scientists had asked to name the heads.

The so-called full employment bill, Reconversion Boss Snyder declared today, would set all branches of government to work on maintaining a "stable prosperity."

Snyder also told the House expenditures committee:

"It brings all forces of government—executive and legislative—to bear upon this one with one vital objective: to achieve, in our nation, a stable prosperity based on free enterprise and upon full employment."

Attempting to pry the administration-backed measure from its deadlock on Capitol Hill, Snyder declared:

"This bill does not mean government ownership, government competition with private business, chinese Workers reported it planned to seek strike votes affecting 170,000 persons in 54 General Electric Corp. plants, and 30,000 in electric manufacturing plants of General Motors.

Issue likewise was a wage increase, this time for $2 a day. A similar demand has been made by the UERMW in the Westinghouse Electrical Manufacturing Co. establishments.

Another strike vote petition was to be filed by CIO President Phil Murray, also over a $6 a day increase, on behalf of 600,000 workers in 766 steel, aluminum and iron ore plants.

Disputes were settled which had closed five Montana daily newspapers since September 29. An agreement between publishers and the International Typographical Union was expected to permit resumption of publication later in the week. Some 375 printers were affected in Butte, Helena and Missoula.

The lengthy Hollywood jurisdictional dispute appeared ended as studio executives continued conferences with representatives of 15 AFL unions. Some 5,000 to 7,000 workers were expected to return today.

or more government regulation of private business."

What the government can and should do, he said, is to establish policies "as fall within the traditional realm of government responsibility." These will assure "conditions that make it possible for business to provide jobs."

The Senate passed a "full employment" bill last summer.

Senate and House compromised differences over the week end on the new tax bill. The bill, ready for final passage, represents a $5,920,000,000 slash or about $1,000,000,000 above the administration's limit.

A House agriculture subcommittee called up Agriculture Department officials for advice on how domestic sugar production can be upped.

Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach was called as the first witness at a Senate hearing on legislation for equal pay for women as men for the same kind of work.

The measure to fix the size of the post-war Navy will be followed in the House by a highly-controversial half-billion dollar appropriation bill for the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration.

The UNRRA appropriation is almost certain to touch off a lively fight. Many Republicans, and some Democrats, believe the agency set up to help liberated European nations get back on their feet has been spending its money unwisely.

Lighting Research is "MOVING THE SUN"

Did you ever wish you could work in a place like this . . . out in the cool sunshine of a June morning?

This isn't as impossible as it seems. In fact it's what lighting research is planning for you right now. To "move the sun indoors." Winter or summer, day or night, you will be able to enjoy all the benefits of outdoor sunshine . . . re-created for you by the magic of research. Such benefits as:

- Softer, more abundant light for easy seeing.
- Ultraviolet that produces essential Vitamin D.
- Short-wave ultraviolet that kills germs.
- Soothing, penetrating heat.

It is a well-known fact that good lighting eliminates much of the strain and fatigue among workers in offices and factories. And efficiency goes up accordingly. It will pay any office or factory manager to look into the possibilities of modern lighting that brings sunshine indoors. We will be glad to advise you without charge or obligation.

WORLD TODAY

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

U. S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman's report that Marshal Stalin isn't ill, as had been widely rumored, but is in good health, is big news.

As a supreme and unquestioned head of the Soviet Union, Stalin wields such vast individual power that fate most certainly would be making a rash gamble if she removed him from control at this moment of world crisis.

One doesn't have to believe in Communism or even to agree with all of Moscow's actions, in order to recognize this fact. Russia has other able statesmen, but Stalin's leadership has been unique. His word is accepted by his followers as final, and so it has come about that in international affairs his voice is the voice of the entire Soviet Union.

The signs long have been that no important decision is taken without Stalin's approval. I may have mentioned in a previous column that recently I heard an internationally known military personage state that the Marshal, not only in name but in fact, was the generalissimo of the Red armies. The broad strategy for the whole Soviet effort is said to have been his, and it was the opinion of the general in question (who wasn't a Russian) that Stalin is one of the great strategists of his time.

What has been true of war has been true of other things. The political strategy is credited to him. And going back a score of years to the time when he took over the leadership after Lenin's death, we find him charting the great Soviet industrial program, after ousting the fiery Trotsky who wanted to throw all Russia's energy into making world revolution.

Well, now, you couldn't remove a captaincy like Stalin's without at least temporarily causing confusion in Russia and consequently over globe at large. This might not be so bad in normal times, but it could easily produce grave results in the midst of the critical situation which now exists throughout Europe and Asia, and will continue for many months.

So it's a relief to learn from Ambassador Harriman that the Marshal not only is well, but appears greatly refreshed by his vacation in the Black Sea region.

grabbed the keys. In an ensuing scuffle, his gun was discharged accidentally and the bullet struck the woman. He threw his gun into the car and again it discharged accidentally, wounding Mrs. Duffield again.

Wellman drove to a country road, pulled the woman out of the car and dumped her in a ditch. He went back to the automobile and tried to decide what to do. Hearing Mrs. Duffield moan, he straddled the ditch to avoid "getting muddy" and fired two more bullets into her body.

Alarmed by the sound of an approaching automobile, he fled to the plant of the National Tube Co., two miles away, where he had worked until two days previous.

There he forced a workman, under threat of death, to dress a hand injury he suffered in the flight and aid him in disposing of his blood-stained clothing. He stole other clothes and buried his gun.

He went to his rooming house,

Rev. John K. Abernethy Speaks At General Meeting Saturday Morning

"There is no such thing as an atheist," Rev. John K. Abernethy, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church here, told 150 delegates from six Girl Reserve Clubs at the district conference at the high school here Saturday.

Rev. Abernethy spoke on the subject, "Doing My Best to Honor God" at the general meeting in the auditorium Saturday morning. He said religion was not a matter of attending church nor was all prayer spoken with a bowed head. "Everyone has a God," he said. He said religion offered a set of personal and social standards for everyone.

Nancy Devins, president of the senior Girl Reserve club at WHS, presided over the general meeting. After her welcome, Helen Ann Hofsteger of Hillsboro, responded. The Grove City club was in charge of the devotional service.

Miss Helen Persinger, district YMCA secretary, spoke of the work of the district to the delegates.

From 11:30 A. M. until noon, the delegates had their choice of singing in the auditorium under Mrs. George Pensyl's direction, of visiting the book-shop display, of recreation in the Little Theater or talking with Rev. Abernethy. Luncheon was served in the cafeteria by the staff under Mrs. Charles Hall's direction.

Miss Janet Allen led recreation in the gymnasium after luncheon. From 2 to 3 P. M. six discussion groups on programs, service, club worship, social affairs, money matters and advisors and council members were held in different rooms. The Frankfort club was in charge of the closing service in the auditorium.

Mrs. Willard Bitzer, state YWCA board member, spoke also at the general meeting. All the delegates and their advisors were introduced.

Clubs represented were Grove City, Circleville, Bloomingburg, Greenfield, Hillsboro, Frankfort and Washington C. H.

packed some clothes and took a bus for Cleveland. Two hours later he left Cleveland by bus for Portsmouth and then Friday went to Columbus.

Detectives disclosed that the National Tube workman whom Wellman threatened gave them their lead. The man was held as a material witness in a hotel to insure his safety until the fugitive was captured.

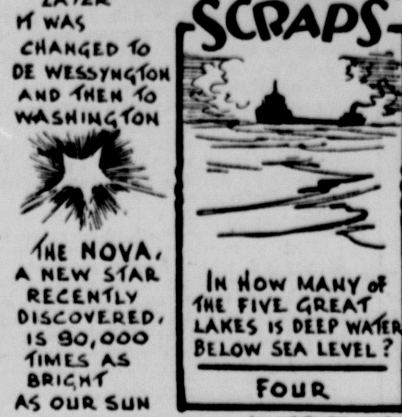

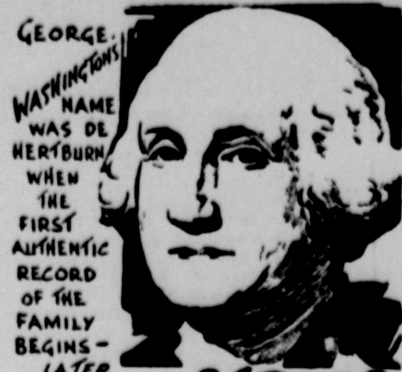

Wellman, convicted of violating the national motor vehicle theft act, was sentenced to the Federal Reformatory at Chillicothe in February, 1941. He was released that December.

Mrs. Duffield's husband was reported on his way home after service as a radarman with the Pacific fleet.

GEN. EICHELBERGER LEAST BORED MAN -- WELFARE OF TROOPS FIRST WITH HIM

pect periodical visits from Eichelberger—but not the usual cursory once-over inspections. His aides complain he "walks our legs off."

If he thinks anything is wrong he goes directly to the men themselves and questions them. "Uncle Bob" shudders whenever anyone calls him "fatherly," but he has a way of making enlisted men forget rank differences and talk to him freely about their troubles.

He sees, too, that they don't pay for their trust in him and their frankness. Once, while he was questioning a soldier about a situation, he noticed the man's officer stiffening with resentment over his subordinate's remarks. Eichelberger's mild blue eyes chilled as he turned to the officer.

"After I leave, I don't want you punishing this man for speaking out," he said.

He is equally curt at all times in dressing down officers when he finds they haven't taken the best possible care of their troops.

Eichelberger is kindly, like Gen. Omar Bradley and he has General Patton's vitality without his brusqueness.

During a recent trip with Eichelberger to inspect troops on Hokkaido, we passed over much of the country the general had visited after World War I, when he was intelligence officer in an American expedition to Siberia. Every few minutes he would beckon excitedly to some colonel or sergeant.

"Look at that volcano!" he would call. "Look at that view!"

Eichelberger is one of the ground force's most air-minded generals. During his Philippine campaign he made flying visits to front-line outfits on 72 of the 90 days it lasted, landing often before areas had been cleared of snipers.

No army wife can boast a more devoted husband than Mrs. Eichelberger, who lives in Asheville, N. C. They were married 34 years ago but he writes home daily—and gets one himself when the mail comes through.

Eichelberger has a simple formula for the perfect world. "Everybody," he says, "should have married parents."

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

will have to be continued beyond next July 1, so great is the pressure for price increases and inflation.

Just beyond there in the dark corner are Mr. Truman's economic advisers, telling him the opposite, namely wages can be increased materially without increasing prices. You cannot see them, you may only hear what is leaked to the press about what they say.

I can imagine if Bowles heard them he would assert he had already squeezed the differentials of profits to the limit through OPA, by freezing prices while other branches of the administration were permitting unprecedented wage increases by devices such as portal-to-portals, regrading, and what-not.

Interesting ride? You have seen nothing yet, and I mean that literally.

On the right is Reconversion Director Snyder telling congress exactly that. He says the administration has no program for putting a price ceiling on housing, and would not accept such a course unless assured that such restrictions would not interfere with the anticipated building boom.

Beyond him in the background, you see strikes in the lumber industry, the most important of all building materials, based upon demands for a 30 percent wage increase.

That animated black statue there in the dark on the extreme left is CIO's Sidney Hillman, and the blackboard figures behind him are the hired union economists thinking up reasons for 30 percent wage increases. Notice, just then, how Hillman turned around for a moment. He probably was just being notified one strike has been called off, and issued orders to start another one somewhere, to keep things going.

Those young men in the bright light yonder are the newspaper men. Their agitation is due to their confusion as to how to report the anonymously leaked news from the Truman economists. The one in the phone booth has decided the news means a 24 percent wage increase is justified without an increase in prices, but those older, more experienced fellows in the background, are pointing out the hedging done by the advisers and realizing the recommendations do not mean anything at all.

The economists had figured that if you deduct taxes from business profits now, the difference could go to wage increases. They did not stop to think that war production was entirely different from peacetime in volume, costs, etc.

You know production costs and prices primarily depend on volume (remember how mass production cheapened articles), and peacetime costs will involve many other factors including salesmanship, advertising, etc.

In war, the factories had only one customer, the government, and he fixed the price as well as the profits.

But do not gaze at that too long or you will get dizzy and thus develop the necessary qualifications to be an economist, yourself. The fellow in the straight-jacket there at the right is the former reconversion official let go by Mr. Truman, for figuring out there would be a 50 percent wage increase without a price increase.

Notice the effect on your ear drums going through this tunnel, as when you ride a subway under the river. We must be near the White House. It is pressure generated by the CIO-PAC to keep Mr. Truman earlocked until he decides the union way.

Now we come to that heavy figure there—the shadow with his back turned is John L. Lewis. He is not sad. He always keeps his back turned. He has just called off the coal strike.

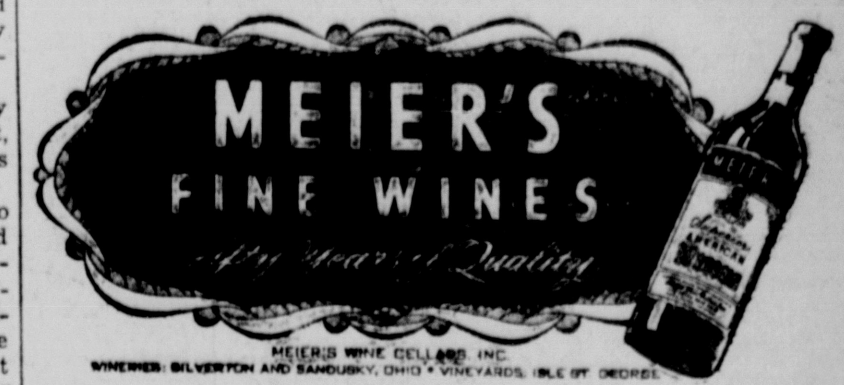

They say he was not critically interested in the cause of the strike which was to force the coal companies to let foremen join Lewis, and the strikers were losing so much in money, and possibly his union in dues and expenditures, that the expense may not have justified what he would get in dues from the foremen.

So he called it off announcing he did so "in the public interest," thereby becoming the first labor leaders I can recall who ever claimed he was stopping a strike for the public. This should put him in the imperishable hall of fame. Lewis is always first in everything.

But here we are again out in the clean fresh air, light and sunshine. Not a bad trip, was it? You must come along with me again some time. I live in this damned fool place. Never a dull moment.

Power of Women

Launched on the globe is another force potentially as revolutionary as the atomic bomb for good or for evil. Possibly more so, for this power can control the bomb itself. It is the ballot in the hands of the world's women. MacArthur opened the polls of Japan to its women. DeGaulle saw to it that his countrywomen voted in France's recent important election. Italian women are about to taste the franchise. Added to these radical developments is the startling declaration of Pope Pius XII that "women have the strict obligation to enter public life, at least as far as voting is concerned." The pontiff stresses the obligation as that of Catholic women, but the consequences will transcend such limitation.

Women will vote not as Catholics, not as French or Italian or Japanese nationals. They will not even vote as women, but as world citizens. With the ballot in their hands their voices will be listened to in world problems of which war is the worst. Women can stop wars. Lysistrata, who led her Greek sisters so long ago in a futile rebellion against battles, is vindicated at last.

Beyond all this, women can make peace pay. The world's creators of life, for ages its greatest consumers of goods, women have been an unorganized, inarticulate minority. This unique thing, dawning world democracy, is giving them a chance. We be unto them if they remain merely daughters of Eve, playing in the garden. They have a stern duty and responsibility—to help make the world a fit place for the young they bear.

This Dizzy World

There are two ways of looking at the unprecedented wars which have swept the world in these last few years. The most common view, perhaps, is that we have just been going through another of the periods of general unrest which seem to sweep large regions of the world from time to time, very much as physical plagues did in past centuries. But it may have been, and may still be, much more than that.

These last wars, forced upon mankind by predatory groups, with particular emphasis on the Germans and Japanese, may be regarded, perhaps, as literally a "War for the World." From it the law-abiding groups, which include the United States of America and most of our western nations, have barely escaped. Even yet we are not secure against large, half-civilized groups of mankind who would disregard world law and order for their own imagined benefit.

It is not only a small world, with our deceptive modern transportation and scientific knowledge and the material power now available, but it is a very precarious world, with moral hazards. And probably never, since man's cherished dream of Eden arose, has the fate of mankind been so unpredictable.

The Small Town

Small towns and villages are the foundation and the buttress of the nation, the medium for the fullest life of its citizens. The future of the United States depends on them. Arthur E. Morgan, former Ten-

Flashes of Life

1. In what country is the city of Thebes?
2. What and where is the Tiber?
3. In what continent is Turkestan?

Words of Wisdom

Happy is the man who hath never known what it is to taste of fame—to have it is a purgatory, to want it is a hell.—Edward Bulwer Lytton.

Today's Horoscope

Courage, determination, a firm will and a capacity for careful and precise work are your strong points if today's your birthday. You are methodical and accurate, and have executive ability. You enjoy outdoors, and should have a congenial married life. Let your pleasures be moderate ones today, although you are invited out, or are tempted to go off on a tear. You would only regret the effects of over-indulgence—whether of food, liquor or the emotions. Be rational.

One Minute Test Answers

1. In Egypt; also there is a city of that name in Greece. Both were important in ancient times.
2. It is the principal river of Central Italy.
3. Asia.

nese Valley Authority chairman, one time president of Antioch College at Yellow Springs in our neighboring county of Greene, expresses these views in his recent book, "The Small Community."

In the present era with its myriad opportunities for fresh starts and new aims, the small town offers a wide range of economic callings as well as cultural advantages for the entire family. A large part of American industry can thrive best in small communities. The trend of manufacturing already is away from cities. A little place can realize individual growth along artistic lines and the development of hobbies, skills, civic-mindedness and leadership. In other words a small town permits wide sharing of mutual interests which would be stifled in a city.

For too long the drift of clever young people to the cities has skimmed much of the cream from villages. Youth can be kept in the home town by local planning that will afford attractive openings for work, education and recreation. The town, its citizens and the nation will benefit.

Moderate France

While the recent elections in France, the first in nine years, gave the Communist party the largest number, 142, of National Assembly seats, it was only a victory of two seats over DeGaulle's Popular Republican Movement, which won 140, and only nine more seats than were won by France's third political party, the Socialists, once known as the party of Leon Blum.

Obviously, in order to accomplish anything, any of these three strong political groups must form a coalition with one of the others. Therefore the fear that France would be swept into the orbit of Russian communistic influence, away from the western allies, is baseless. In fact the opposite has happened. DeGaulle has emerged as leader of France, through the strength shown by his party, the Popular Republicans, called by the French by its initials, MRP. It is also shown by election of the majority of his cabinet ministers, but particularly by winning his referendum demands for a new French constitution and for emergency powers while it is being written. His consistent opposition to the Nazification of France is vindicated.

The DeGaulle party, of Popular Republicans, are rated as moderately left-wing with strong leanings toward Anglo-American and French friendship. Their part will be to act as balance between the Communists and the Socialists.

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — President Truman's policy of genial backslapping Congress so far hasn't gotten his legislative program a good nod.

It is well over a month since the President sent his famous 21-point message to Congress, setting forth, in more words than any President but one ever before had used in a message, just what legislation he felt this country needed.

Since that time — especially since Congress was just back from a vacation and should have been fresh and eager to make the legislative fur fly — the boys on the Hill haven't passed one piece of major legislation that the President asked for.

Not only that, but the two top drawer measures on the administration program — the full employment bill and the reconversion unemployment pay bill — are either bogged down completely or threatened with amendments and riders would leave much to be desired by the administration should they become public laws.

It is a fact that the White House is showing no visible signs of concern over the matter yet, but if Congress continues to let the whole administration program sink out of sight in a legislative bog, Mr. Truman will have to try some other method than gladdening.

Therein lies the speculation that almost every one here who has anything to do with government is indulging in these autumn days.

President Roosevelt, who, for most of his 12 years, was at odds with Congress and had to fight for almost every major issue until the war and the laws pertaining to the winning of it came along, had one club he wielded for all it was worth — public opinion.

President Roosevelt's "fireside chats" were far more than a report to the nation. They were an appeal for support of his legislative program — a presentation of his case — a stirring of the public mind.

President Roosevelt wasn't always successful, of course, but the number of reform measures that were put through Congress over strong opposition by this method were impressive, even if the survey is confined only to one of his terms.

President Truman tossed the Roosevelt technique out the window. New Presidents and their Congresses nearly always traipse off on a honeymoon but the Truman-79th Congress honeymoon was one that will be long remembered. From little informal luncheons to big Democratic picnics, sweetness and light was all over the place.

Is still is. Congress apparently enjoys being wooed as much as the President does wooing it. But there the honeymoon ends. When it comes to arranging the furniture the way the President wants it, Congress is just smiling dutifully and going about its other business.

On one thing the government's sidewalk superintendents are agreed: the next move is up to President Truman.

A Common Type of Tumor

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

ONE of the most common disturbances of women is the development of fibroid tumors of the womb. These tumors are made up of muscle tissue and fibrous or connective tissue. The exact cause of these tumors is not definitely known. They may occur in persons who are as young as twenty, or in those past seventy.

The average age in a group of women studied by Doctor John D. Peake of Mobile was forty-two years, and the average number of children born to these women was three. It would appear that the disorder is more likely to occur in women who have had no children.

In some instances there may be disorders present which make surgery impossible, such as thyroid disease or heart disease. In these instances the X-ray treatment may be utilized.

Irregular Bleeding

The most constant symptom of these tumors is irregular bleeding. The symptoms may begin with an increase in the length of the normal menstrual period, and finally the periods may last for from ten days to two weeks. The regularity of the periods may be lost. The bleeding may be relieved by rest in bed and made worse by physical exertion.

Often anemia, or lessening of the coloring in the blood, develops. If the tumor becomes large enough, of course, it may press on surrounding organs and produce difficulties.

Patients Studied

Of 300 patients studied, 290 were treated with X-ray or radium. In some instances both methods were employed. In only two cases the bleeding failed to be relieved by this treatment.

In three instances pain continued after the bleeding stopped. In two patients in whom the X-ray treatments did not control the condition, surgery was carried out. Once a diagnosis of fibroid tumor has been made, the doctor will decide which method of treatment will be the most successful.

A laugh and a song down the dreariest way—
A laugh and a lilted song—
Will glid the gray of the cloudiest day,
As travelers journey along!

A word and a smile down the rockiest mile
Will soften the ruts of the road!
While a word of cheer in a tired-out ear
Will lighten the heaviest load!

We needn't be great and we needn't be grand,
We needn't be clever or rich,

And pull them out of the ditch.

And he who rejoices in little things
Finds the pathway that leads to the prize.

Then, God, keep me thankful for little things;
For the blessing of rain and sun;
For the soothing peace of the twilight hour
When the tasks of the day are done;

For the moist, sweet fragrance of fresh-tilled earth;
For the wonder of sprouting seed;
For friendship and loyalty, courage and love;
For each kindly word and deed.

By the grace of the Father is mine.

SYNOPSIS

In February a lone figure sat plotting a carefully detailed project for murder. The writer traced a date in September, then burned the paper to ashes. Following are the circumstances that brought certain people—including that lone figure—to Gull's Point, home of elderly Lady Camilla Tressilian, on that fateful date. Handsome Neville Strange, Camilla's heir, and Kay, his pleasure-loving bride, were to have been Camilla's guests in June, but Kay disliked giving up a yachting party scheduled for that time—"just to be snubbed by your prim relatives," Camilla, and Mary Aldin, a distant relative who looked after the invalid matriarch, felt that Neville had treated his first wife, Audrey, most shamefully, when, after eight years of happiness, he had fallen hopelessly in love with the glamorous Kay. Audrey, of whom they were very fond, had suffered a nervous breakdown following the divorce. She is to be at Camilla's in September, and Kay is astounded when Neville suggests they postpone their visit till then, adding, "It would make much happier if you two could be friends." He writes Camilla to this effect, but she decides to consult Audrey before yielding to his preposterous proposal.

CHAPTER SEVEN

May 5th

"MRS. STRANGE, m'lady."

Audrey Strange came into the big bedroom, crossed the room to the big bed, stooped down and kissed the old lady and sat down in the chair placed ready for her.

"Nice to see you, my dear," said Lady Tressilian.

"And nice to see you," said Audrey.

There was a quality of intangibility about Audrey Strange. She was of medium height with very small hands and feet. Her hair was ash blond and there was very little color in her face. Her eyes were set wide apart and were a clear pale gray. Her features were small and regular, a straight little nose set in a small oval pale face. With such coloring, with a face that was pretty but not beautiful, she had nevertheless a quality about her that could not be ignored and that drew your eyes to her again and again. She was a little like a ghost, but you felt at the same time that a ghost might be possessed of more reality than a live human being.

She had a singularly lovely voice; soft and clear like a small silver bell.

For some minutes she and the old lady talked of mutual friends and current events. Then Lady

Tressilian said:

"Besides the pleasure of seeing you, my dear, I asked you to come because I've had rather a curious letter from Neville."

Audrey looked up. Her eyes were wide, tranquil and calm. She said:

"Oh, yes?"

"He suggests—a preposterous suggestion, I call it!—that he and Kay should come here in September. He says he wants you and Kay to be friends and that you yourself think it a good idea."

She waited. Presently Audrey said in her gentle placid voice:

"Is it—so preposterous?"

"My dear—do you really want this to happen?"

Audrey was silent again for a minute or two, then she said gently:

"I think, you know, it might be rather a good thing."

"You really want to meet this—you want to meet Kay?"

"I do think, Camilla, that it might—simplify things."

"Simplify things?" Lady Tressilian repeated the words helplessly. Audrey spoke very softly.

"Dear Camilla. You have been so good. If Neville wants this—"

"A fig for what Neville wants!" said Lady Tressilian robustly. "Do you want it, that's the question?"

A little color came into Audrey's cheeks. It was the soft delicate glow of a sea shell.

"Yes," she said. "I do want it."

"Well," said Lady Tressilian, "well—"

She stopped.

"But, of course," said Audrey. "It is entirely your choice. It is your house and—"

Lady Tressilian shut her eyes.

"I'm an old woman," she said. "Nothing makes sense any more."

"But of course—I'll come some other time—Any time will suit me."

"You'll come in September as you always do," snapped Lady Tressilian. "And Neville and Kay shall come, too. I may be old, but I can adapt myself, I suppose, as well as anyone else, to the changing phases of modern life. Not another word, that's settled."

She closed her eyes again. After a minute or two she said, peering through half shut lids at the young

Ex-Army Flier Puts Airport in Pasture

By GEORGE SATTERLY

VERSAILLES, Mo., Oct. 29.—(AP)—Down here on the edge of Missouri's Ozarks is a home grown airport and the beginnings of a young army flier's peacetime dream.

He's making his dream come true.

On a 76-acre pasture he leased from his parents, 25-year-old Charles "Chuck" Harris is operating a landing field for air-minded tourists and sportsmen.

Since he opened the field for use last July 1, Chuck says, nearly 250 planes have dropped in. And he proudly declares he is "really getting things ready now to take care of them."

The field has a natural four-way drain that keeps the runways usable even in heavy weather. The longest of the sodded landing strips is 2,500 feet, parallel to the prevailing southeast winds. The other two strips are 2,100 feet long. All are 300 feet wide and are marked according to CAA requirements.

Harris has installed fueling and oiling equipment, has one hangar completed and will have two more finished this fall.

So far he hasn't set any charges for use of the field and its parking areas. He says he's been waiting until he could get the property damage, public liability and airport insurance he now carries.

About all he's made out of the field up to now is what he receives for servicing visiting aircraft.

That and a lot of future business for he believes he has made a friend and a future customer of every flier who lands there.

A couple of Ozarks hills away is the much-publicized Eldon, Mo., Airport—the $25,000 National Aeronautical guinea pig—where a planned landing field for small communities is being studied by CAA and state aeronautical experts.

Harris believes his slowly developing individual project can offer the same facilities and compares favorably with the more costly airport.

Harris got his financial start from his wife, Dorothy, an enthusiastic partner and flying student. She worked as a registered nurse and hospital technician and saved a lot of her earnings while her husband was in the army air force.

The local aero club, four Versailles businessmen who bought their own plane, has given Chuck some financial backing and the money he saved during his four years in the army also helped.

Harris is expanding on a strictly cash basis. He buys nothing he can't pay for on delivery.

Chuck started flying when he was 10 years old—without the knowledge of his parents. An older friend brought and wired together an old army "Jenny," and the Ozarks farm lad talked his way into learning to fly the decrepit crate.

Once he swooped low over the

Norma Deanne Snyder of Urbana Exchanges Vows in First Baptist Church Before a Great Number of Relatives and Friends

Lighted tapers, palms and baskets of gladioli decorated the altar of the Urbana First Baptist Church for the wedding ceremony uniting Norma Deanne Snyder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Snyder, of Urbana, in marriage to George William Cox, the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Martin Cox, city, at three o'clock, Sunday afternoon.

Officiating for the double ring ceremony was the Rev. Samuel Furrow, pastor of the church.

Before the marriage vows were exchanged, a fifteen-minute program of appropriate nuptial music was played by the bride's cousin, Miss Mary Catherine Kull, at the organ. Vocalist was Miss Bettylu Hines, of West Liberty.

Given in marriage by her father, the petite blonde bride approached the altar on his arm wearing a floor length white satin gown, fashioned with a long fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline and the sleeves tapered to points over the hands. It was designed with a long, full skirt which ended in a train. Her fingertip veil of illusion was held in place with a white satin halo bonnet. She carried a white prayer book, topped with an orchid, and rosebuds and ribbons fell from the prayer book.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Richard Metzger, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Rosemary Cox, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Janice Fogle, cousin of the bridegroom. All wore floor-length gowns made identically and similar to that of the bride. Mrs. Metzger's gown was coral while the bridesmaid's gowns were ice-blue. Each carried colonial bouquets and wore tiaras of blue tulle.

Naval Cadet Richard Fogle, city, cousin of the bridegroom, performed the duties of best man. Ushers seating the many guests were William Snyder, of Urbana, and Henry Balmut, of St. Paris.

For her daughter's marriage, Mrs. Snyder wore a navy blue street-length frock with which she combined light blue accessories. Her flowers were red roses. Mrs. Cox wore a smart all-black ensemble with black accessories while her flowers were yellow rose buds.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception honoring the newly-weds was held at the home of the bride's parents, and attended by 90 guests. Centering the beautifully appointed bride's

CRAIG'S

Notre Dame-Navy Game Next Saturday Feature

By MURRAY ROSE
NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—(AP)—The dizzy collegiate football campaign swings into the November stretch Saturday with Notre Dame opposing Navy in a contest which may find the Midshipmen cast in the role of underdog for the first time this season.

A crowd of some 80,000 is expected to jam Cleveland's Municipal Stadium to see these two unbeaten Titans clash in the big game of this week. Off the results of last Saturday's games when the Middles barely squeaked by Penn. 14-7 while Notre Dame was rolling over Iowa 56-0, the Irish probably will be the choice.

Another 80,000 plus through probably will pack Los Angeles coliseum to see the all-conquering Gaels of St. Mary's tangle with the twice-beaten Trojans of southern California. The Gaels took last Saturday off while the Trojans were being surprised 13-7 by Washington's Huskies.

Other big pairings of the week match Minnesota at Michigan, Northwestern at Ohio State, Pittsburgh at Purdue, Texas at Southern Methodist, Duke at Georgia, Cornell at Columbia, Villanova at Army, and Washington at Oregon.

Minnesota, Purdue and Texas joined Southern California in the ranks of the past week's upset victims. Minnesota found itself up against avengeful Ohio State squad and took its first licking by a 20-7 count. Northwestern blasted Purdue from the list of the unbeaten and untied powers 26-14 while there also was no reasoning behind the 7-6 trimming Texas took from four-times beaten Rice.

Here is about the way the sectional leaders shape up:

IN THE EAST—Army in a class by itself followed by Navy, Penn and the unbeaten Triumvirate of Columbia, Holy Cross and Temple. The Cadets mauled Duke 48-13 and Villanova's Wildcats were beaten 33-2 by Tennessee. Despite their loss to Navy Penn's Quakers still stand high. Columbia breezed by Brown 27-6. Holy Cross blanked Colgate 21-0, and Temple edged out Pitt 6-0.

IN THE SOUTH—Alabama became the No. 1 team of the entire south. The unbeaten Alabamians swept over Georgia 28-14 for their third southeastern conference victory.

Although murdered by Army and the navy, Duke's Blue Devils look like the best team in the Southern Conference.

IN THE MIDWEST—The Big Ten race is wide open. Indiana nosed out Tulsa 7-2 in an outside game and leads the loop with a 3-0 record. Purdue and Ohio State come next with 3-1 followed by Michigan with 2-1 and Minnesota 1-1. Michigan moved into the contention with its 19-0 win over Illinois.

IN THE SOUTHWEST—Rice's surprise party at Texas' expense snarled the Southwest Conference situation. Southern Methodist leads the circuit with one victory and no defeats followed by TCU at 2-1. Texas, Rice and the Texas Aggies are next with 1-1 while Arkansas and Baylor hold 1-2 slates.

IN THE FAR WEST—Washington became the No. 1 nominee for Rose Bowl honors by upsetting USC. The Huskies' Pacific Coast Conference record is 4-1 with USC and UCLA tied for second at 2-1. The UCLAs beat Oregon 12-0 Friday night.

BUCKS BACK IN RACE FOR BIG TEN TITLE BY UPSETTING MINNESOTA

By HAROLD HARRISON
COLUMBUS, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Ohio State University's jubilant Bucks came home last night with their sights once again trained on the Western Conference Football Championship.

A section of the University band played and cheerleaders led cheers as the 36 tried players and the coaching staff filed through Union Station.

Playing what Coach Carroll Widdoes described as their best game of the season, the Bucks ran and passed Minnesota into a 20 to 7 defeat at Minneapolis Saturday in a game which helped throw the Big Ten title race into a wide open affair.

Ahead of them now are tilts with Northwestern, Illinois and Michigan within the Big Ten and with Pittsburgh in a non-conference engagement.

Ohio never was behind against Minnesota and the way the Bucks shoved Gophers around was matched by an equally stout defense, one which in the third period held the Golden Gophers when they had a first down on the four-yard line.

Ollie Cline, Bud Kessler and Dick Fisher did the touchdown scoring for Ohio. Cline got his in the first period on a smash from the two yard line after Harold Daugherty had set up the play on a pass to Fisher.

The Gophers couldn't penetrate the Ohio defense consistently, but they tied the count in the second period on a 64-yard run by Tommy Gates. The Bucks bounced right back however, and scored from 67 yards out on a pass from Daugherty to Kessler.

Nursing that 13 to 7 lead, the Bucks seemed to be in for trouble at the start of the third period when Vic Kulbitski began ripping the Ohio line. One Minnesota threat was nullified by a penalty but the Gophers came right back to drive to a first down on the four. Five times, the powerful Gopher backs ripped into the line and when it was all over they still were inches short of the goal line.

That was the end for the Gophers and almost immediately Ohio drove to another touchdown that was set up on Daugherty's interception of Merlin Kispert's pass. Fisher got that score on a 17-yard run.

HOPE RAISED FOR JAPAN

TOKYO, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Unofficial Japan took hope today from President Truman's enunciation of foreign policy that Nippon eventually might regain a place in the economic and political society of nations, but not one government official would comment.

Marquis Koichi Kido, one of the emperor's closest advisers, spent the morning with Hirohito after reading Truman's speech. The Mikado, described as a diligent student of Japanese newspapers, presumably had read Truman's address, which was printed at length.

The newspaper Yomiuri Hochi reported Hirohito's annual income was approximately $1,000,000 from stocks and extensive land holdings and that the Imperial household's annual budget was approximately $1,666,666. In its unprecedented discussion of imperial finances, Yomiuri said nearly one-fifth of the budget came from public funds over which the Diet had no control.

Unofficial Japanese statements emphasized the hope Japan "will regain an honorable position in world society when we demonstrate our peace loving intent."

The president's reiteration of the Potsdam philosophy in this regard should be assurance that eventually there would be no discrimination against one-time enemy nations, they said.

Meanwhile General MacArthur ousted Japanese officials from St. Paul's Episcopal University, directed the Japanese government to restore the Christian curriculum there immediately, and demanded an accounting of 81 other schools once supported by American gifts.

On the political front, Domei reported most young Japanese peers want to forsake their titles and assume a commoner status, following the lead of Prince Fimimaro Konoye, who is expected to become active in conservative politics if his request to resign his title is granted by the Imperial household.

GRAIN MARKET NEWS SUMMARY

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Persistent strength in wheat futures, with prices up more than a cent a bushel at times, buoyed other grains today.

The domestic visible wheat supply decreased 3,370,000 bushels last week to 134,245,000 bushels, the Board of Trade reported. Since many farmers are holding their wheat, apparently pending lower income taxes next year, wheat held up fairly well but other grains slumped again near the close.

Wheat closed $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ higher than the previous finish, Dec. $\frac{1}{4}$. Corn was down $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$, December $\frac{1}{4}$. Rye was $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ lower, Dec. $\frac{1}{4}$. $\frac{1}{4}$ barley was unchanged to $\frac{1}{4}$ off, Dec. $\frac{1}{4}$.
